

Desperately
Seeking

Exclusivity

Ethan, Stacey, Walter, and Angel are each successful on paper but unfulfilled where it matters most. Love always seems close enough to touch, yet never solid enough to hold.

As their lives intersect, attraction pulls them toward unfinished connections, tempting distractions, and decisions that carry real consequences. Whether chasing the one who slipped away, ending one relationship to begin another, or mistaking desire for stability, every choice pushes them closer to a reckoning.

As relationships form and fracture, each of them is forced to confront what exclusivity truly demands and whether commitment is worth the cost when asked of the wrong person.
