

Desperately Seeking

Pleasure

Dante and Celeste Wright, Greg Thomas, and Michal Sexton set sail for a four day cruise to the Bahamas expecting sun, laughter, and a much needed escape from real life.

The warm Caribbean days soon turn into even hotter nights. That's when the open seas invite open hearts and require open minds while opening the door to temptation, unspoken expectations, and quiet insecurities. What begins as indulgence soon carries weight, as desire pushes each of them toward choices that feel easier in the moment than they do afterward.

As boundaries blur and caution is set aside, pleasure comes easily, but not without consequences. When the ship docks and everyone returns home, they discover that what they carry back is far heavier than their luggage.

CHRISTOPHER MARKLAND

Desperately Seeking Pleasure

CM

www.ChristopherMarkland.com

www.DeterminedBooks.com

#desperatelyseeking

